

CITES ROLE OF CHRISTIAN IN GOVERNMENT

"We are going through the most crucial years of the history of our nation since the Continental Congress," the Rev. Walter H. Moeller, congressman from the 10th District of Ohio, said Sunday evening in Christ Chapel at the opening of Religious Emphasis Week at Gettysburg College. His subject was "The Christian in Politics."

The Rev. Mr. Moeller, first Missouri Synod Lutheran clergyman ever to serve in Congress, declared, "The next three years will be the most important years in American history. It will determine what America will have to offer humanity in the coming decades."

"While in the world we have a very definite role to play," he said, "a role that takes us out of the pew to play a part in the affairs of government. The Christian is to live the active life of a citizen."

"Why must we have laws?" he asked. "In the Old Testament are many laws set forth by God. The Ten Commandments comprise the most significant set of laws. We need laws to prevent anarchy and to protect the rights of citizens."

Christian Responsibility
"The links between Christianity and the development of democracy... have been of tremendous importance, particularly regarding the concepts of equality and liberty. Christians have a responsibility to become active in party politics," the minister said.

"Separation of church and state does not mean that Christianity has nothing to say about the operation of government. It does not mean that those of religious convictions should not take part in politics," the Rev. Mr. Moeller maintained.

He cited several "dangers in making politics one's career." One is too glibly associating a political position with a Christian position and labeling it as the only Christian position, he said. Another is the conviction that upon one's own political success depends the salvation of the country.

Navy Concerned Over Probable Red Sub Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke has told Congress the Navy is greatly concerned about the possibility of a surprise submarine attack on the United States.

Testimony by Burke, chief of naval operations, and William C. Foster, a leading American international negotiator, was made public over the weekend. They testified before the Senate Disarmament subcommittee January 30.

Foster said stepped-up development of missiles and other military weapons would strengthen the hand of the United States in disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

Burke told the senators the Navy has forces searching up and down both coasts all the time for enemy submarines.

COLLEGE GIVEN $6,924 FOR ITS LOAN PROGRAM

Gettysburg College has been allotted $6,924 in federal funds for establishment of a National Defense student loan program.

Gettysburg, one of 1,227 American colleges sharing $6 million allocated by the Office of Education's Division of Higher Education, is obligated to contribute $1 for every $9 of federal money. It will handle its own student loan fund and will select the individuals who will be granted loans for continuing their education.

The National Defense Education Act of 1958 requires that special consideration be given to students with superior academic backgrounds who intend to teach in elementary or secondary schools or those whose academic backgrounds indicate superior capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering or a modern foreign language.

Fifty per cent of each student loan would be cancelled for five years of full-time teaching in a public elementary or secondary school, at the rate of 10 per cent for each year of service.

The total amount of money allotted to colleges and universities in a state is determined by the state's proportion of the national full-time college enrollment. Allocations to individual institutions in each state were made on the basis of individual institutional requests as related to total requests in the state and student loan allotment for each state.

West Proposes Wide Open Big Four Meet In Germany

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France proposed to Russia today a wide-open Big Four conference on Germany, with East and West German advisers present.

The proposal was made in notes delivered in Moscow and scheduled for release in the Western capitals in a few hours.

West Germany sent a parallel note to Russia.

The Western powers turned down Russia's Jan. 10 proposal for a 38-nation conference to write a German peace treaty which would isolate and neutralize that now-divided country.

Red Plan "Stupid"
The Soviet peace pact project was called "stupid" by Secretary of State Dulles at a recent news conference. He said it would not work.

The call for a foreign ministers meeting was worked out in diplomatic conferences by the State Department and representatives here of the British, French and West German governments. It represents a counter-proposal to the Soviet peace conference proposal.

DONATES $100 FOR LINCOLN STATUE HERE

Walter F. Resser, 645 Linden Ave., York, Saturday night made the first contribution toward the Lincoln statue at Gettysburg proposed Thursday at the Lincoln Fellowship dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Resser, whose father fought in the Battle of Gettysburg, made the presentation, a check for $100, at a dinner in the Hotel Gettysburg Saturday night, marking his 90th birthday.

A one-time tinsmith in East Berlin, now engaged in the smithing of tin, copper, brass and other metals at York, Mr. Resser was entertained at the hotel by his four children, two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

During the course of the dinner he called in Henry M. Scharf, manager of the hotel, and told him that he had read in The Gettysburg Times of plans to erect a Lincoln statue here, and since Mr. Scharf had made the statue be erected, "I want to present you with a check for $100 to go toward the Lincoln Statue fund."

Father Fought Here

He added that his father had fought at Gettysburg as a sergeant. His father, Jacob Resser, tinsmith at East Berlin, had entered the Union Army with the "Adams Infantry" in 1861 and served with the Pennsylvania Reserves, including service with Company K here. Jacob Resser had also aided Ezra Meeker in blazing the Oregon Trail and had served as a director of the Gettysburg National Bank.

Walter Franklin Resser was a tinsmith in 1902 in East Berlin when the brother of former Lt. Gov. Samuel S. Lewis asked him to "join Tom Shipley at the York Manufacturing Co. He needs a good smith."

Starts Business

He retired 11 years ago at the age of 79 at the urging of his children. Six months later he set up a tinsmithing business in his basement. He turns out intricate work in tin, copper, brass and other metals.

While a resident of York for many years, he has retained his interest in Gettysburg.

His father in 1842 made a trip through the west and wrote a diary about the trip, which Mr. Resser presented to the Adams County Historical Society some years ago.

All of his children: Mrs. Nettie Glatfelter, Curtis E. Resser, Rachael Resser and Edwin C. Resser, all of York, were present at Saturday's birthday party here as were the two grandchildren, Fred F. Glatfelter and Susan Resser Innerst, and the five great-grandchildren, Cathy, John and Ann Innerst and Carol Sue and Robert E. Glatfelter.

Anniversary Dinner

There are 31 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Following the mass a turkey dinner was served at the Dutch Cupboard for the immediate members of the family and their husbands and wives during which gifts from the children, including a hand-made gold Rosary, a gift of money and a certificate of a special Apostolic Blessing from Pope John XXIII were presented.

A spiritual bouquet from the grandchildren was also presented. At the dinner the table was decorated with a large wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom.

Four grandsons, Charles and Edward Miller and Charles and Paul Tipton, served as altar boys for the mass. Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller enjoy fairly good health.

The Compiler has been published weekly since it was established in 1818.

Harry M. Deardorff, 50, died suddenly Sunday night at 10:15 o'clock at his home, Orrtanna R. 1, Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said the death was caused by a coronary occlusion.

He had been in his usual health during the day. The family was about to retire and he had gone to his bedroom. His wife, who had gone to the kitchen briefly before going to bed, heard him fall. When she reached his side death had occurred.

A son of Mrs. Margaret (Shultz) Deardorff, Orrtanna R. 1, and the late Charles Deardorff, he was a native of Adams County. He had been employed as a worker on the township roads, and was a member of the Cashtown Fire Co. and Amvets Post 172 of Fairfield.

BIG MACHINE TOPPLES OFF TRAILER TODAY

The fall of a bulldozer from the trailer hauling it tied up traffic in Lincoln Square for about an hour this morning and caused "several thousand dollars" damage to the tractor. Russell Maitland, head of the company, said the exact amount of damage cannot be determined until the tractor is repaired.

Employees of Battlefield Earthmoving, Inc., Gettysburg R. 3, had placed the bulldozer on a low trailer to take it to a construction site. As they rounded Lincoln Square the bulldozer slipped off the trailer near York St. Oil from the upset bulldozer rolled across the eastern half of the square.

While employees of the company worked to return the bulldozer to the trailer, Gettysburg firemen used water to wash the most of the oil and debris from the square. State highway crews placed cinders to check the slippery condition of the square.

While the work was going on from about 8:30 to 9:30 this morning, borough police directed traffic around the western half of the square.

Moments after the officers ceased directing traffic they were recalled to an accident there. Police said Cumberland Twp. Justice of the Peace John Whitman attempted to turn into a parking space on the southwest quadrant of the square when the rear of his car was struck by an auto operated by Joseph Hilbish Jr., Carlisle Star Route, headed toward Baltimore St. Damage was estimated at $90 to Whitman's auto and $15 to Hilbish's vehicle.

FOUNDING OF CUBBING TOLD

The history of Cub Scouting was told by Scout Executive Stanley Rogers at the annual Communion breakfast for Cub Scouts of Troop 78 Sunday morning at St. Francis Xavier Catholic School.

"The Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America authorized the acceptance of $50,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation in 1927 to develop a program for younger boys," Rogers said. Fourteen committees were organized to study the younger boys and especially his leisure time outside home and school. In 1929 all committee submitted their recommendations to the staff committees and to the chief Scout executive for final study.

"The first Wolf Cub book was released to the public in April 30, 1930. A month later the Bear book was released and on June 30, the Lion book. The date for taking Cubs into the new program was April 30.

"Between April 30 and December 31, 1930, 22,000 copies of the Wolf book, 8,700 Bear books and 7,600 Lion books were sold. In the same period 6,600 of the Parent Cub books and over 5,000 Outlings for Cub leaders were sold. Before the end of the first year of its birth, the Cub Scout program proved it was a program wanted by boys, parents and leaders.

"By December 31, 1930, there were 5,102 Cubs registered in 243 packs. Cubbing has grown until there were 1,750,000 Cubs, 540,000 Cubbers and 45,000 packs in 1958."

The Rev. Alexius Arnold spoke briefly to the more than 60 Cubs, parents and others present. Frank Linn, pack chairman, was toastmaster and Charles Holtz, commissioner for the pack, gave the benediction.

MUSICAL NETS $93 FOR FUND

The St. Paul's A.M.E. Zion Church was packed Sunday evening for the musical presented by members of that church and young people and women from St. James Lutheran Church here. The offering taken midway in the program netted $93 for the church's building fund.

Mrs. M. Lena Parr, the pastor, said building plans are not complete but improvement of the church basement and the addition of a recreation room to the church building are proposed if they can be financed. One estimate by a contractor on the cost of the basement work was given at $4,000. The extra room proposed may cost $6,000. The church now has $207 in its building fund and a community committee also has gathered several hundred dollars.

Sunday's musical was held under the sponsorship of the Miriam, Martha and Mary Circles of St. James Lutheran. The program opened with hymn singing led by Mrs. Paul L. Reaser with David Jones at the electric organ. Mrs. Richard Smith read scripture at intervals during the program which included chorus, solo, duet and trio numbers by young people and adults. 3 INJURED AS CAR HITS TREE

Three homeward bound Philadelphians received injuries Sunday evening about 6:30 o'clock and damage amounted $1,850 to their car when their auto swerved to avoid persons walking along the road and crashed through a front yard fence on the property of George Evanko, four miles east of here on Rt. 30, crashing into a tree in the Evanko front yard, state police reported.

Frank Riley, 49, driver of the late model Chevrolet sedan, was treated for a possible fractured nose, abrasions and contusions of both knees. His 44-year-old wife, Helen Riley, received treatment for head injuries, lacerated forehead, abrasions and contusions to both knees and right foot and a sprained knee. Another passenger, Frank Stinson, was treated for abrasions and contusions of the right leg. All three persons were removed to the Warner Hospital by the Gettysburg Fire Company ambulance.

The driver told police he was confronted by high-beam headlights on an approaching west-bound vehicle and when it had passed him he spotted a woman and child walking along the highway in front of him. Swerving to avoid hitting the pedestrians, he lost control of the car.

Investigating officers estimated $50 damage to the Evanko fence and $1,800 to the Riley auto.

Miller Returns From AAA Meet

George W. Miller, manager of the Gettysburg Motor Club, has returned from a two-day conference at Harrisburg of motor club managers from all parts of Pennsylvania.

"The legislative committee is going to protest an attempt to raise the age limit to 18 years for a learner's permit. This would be a death blow to our high school driver training course now available in nearly 200 of our high schools in the state," Miller said. "Statistics show that the age group 21 to 26 years is the one responsible for most of our accidents. The AAA-PMF will put forth every effort to retain the present age of 16 years and keep our driver training course available, he added.

The local motor club was second in the state with a percentage gain of 20.1 and was eighth in the state with a renewal percentage of 94. However, the percentage of members in comparison to the car registration in the county was less than half of the 19 per cent record on a state-wide basis reports showed.

A car operated by Walter Clouser, 51, Hanover, collided with a car operated by Donald L. Reaver, 39, of Littlestown. Total damage was estimated at $10. No one was injured in the accident, which occurred Saturday.

Also to his wife, he devised the home property on Hanover St.

All his stock in the Littlestown State Bank is left to the following children: Julia Weiger, Charlotte Sneeringer, now Sister Miriam Joseph; Helen Sneeringer, now Sister Maria Assumpta; Rose, Rita, Charles W., and Frances Sneeringer. The will stated it was his intention the stock shall not be converted into cash — but be distributed to the designated children.

The executors are directed to sell at public or private sale all his personal property except that which is specifically bequeathed in the will. If the proceeds are more than sufficient to pay the specific bequests of settling the estate, the balance is devised to his nine children.

Made Codicil in '56

All real estate not sold is to be rented and operated by the executors. The executors are to divide and pay annually to his children named, the net proceeds from the income of real estate.

In a codicil, made in January of 1956, which contains amendments to the original will, he interjected this thought in place of a previous one. Each year after his death, executors are to sell four lots "of improved ground" for nine years—or so many years as property remains unsold. And within ten years of his death, executors are directed to complete the conversion of real estate into cash. The net proceeds from the sale are to be divided among children.

The rest of personal property, all income from the estate and all proceeds from the sales of real estate will be divided in nine equal shares to his nine sons and daughters. Two of his sons not listed in a previous bequest but also listed under this one include George B. and Clement Sneeringer.

Executors have as the attorney, J. Francis Yake Jr., and the Littlestown State Bank be used to deposit estate funds. The will was dated May, 1951.

"THE PRICE"

There is a price for everything . . . some high and others low . . . yes, all things must be paid for . . . wherever we may go . . . when we are loved we have to give . . . sincere love in return . . . whatever we may chance to gain . . . this goes for things that seem to be . . . as free as the air . . . in some way or another . . . we have to pay our share . . . a favor means we owe one . . . it's always been that way . . . we'll find this to be very true . . . as we go day by day . . . and so we must be ready . . . to work and sacrifice . . . it matters not who we may be . . . we have to pay the price.

Star and Sentinel and
The Gettysburg TimesONE HUNDRED YEARS AGOUnder our obituary head today will be noticed a very striking dispensation of Providence. Two sisters, Catharine Gise and Mary Gise, both of Butler township, daughters of Abraham Gise, deceased, who have lived together for upwards of 43 years, were removed by death on the 3rd inst
within a few hours of each other.
They came into the world together,
have not been separated, and have gone down together to the silent tomb. — There is certainly something very striking and impressive in the event.This is St. Valentine's day — and we presume the young folks
are all on the watch for sweet missives of love. Unfortunately, of latter years, vulgar and abusive caricatures have been got up,
with the view of gratifying malice; and this has given rather a check to the pretty old custom,
which was so convenient for bashful
swains and modest, lovesick
damsels, who could not pluck up courage to make a public avowal
of their love.Property Sold: Wm King, Esq., alarm of fire. The roof of the property of Jacob McDannell on West Middle street took fire from a burning chimney, but the damage was trifling.(It is rumored that the prompt extinguishment of the fire was due to the admirable working of the new hose, and fire-plug system. We heard something about fire-plugs last fall, but were not aware that the Town Council had since been concerning themselves

about them, and we give them
this tardy acknowledgement of their praiseworthy promptness in the premises.)Yesterday, while Edward Wood-

in his shop, it was accidentally dis-

The ball was subsequently taken out. It was a narrow escape, as at the time Rodgers' hand was

Today's TalkTHE MAGIC OF DESIREHenry James has said that we are born with the strength of desire. He says that it cannot be taught, and he takes as an illustration the remarkable life of Louis Agassiz. So filled with enthusiasm, he was, that he was beloved from all quarters. In the words of Byron, "he came with virtuity beaming from his breast, and everyone went down before him," like they might to a god.Youth, gifted with this inherited magic, can well thank his Creator for it. How wonderful it is to influence others with this God-given miracle! There must have been great charm to the personality of William James, for all those who knew him seemed to love him. He sent his book, "The Will to Believe," to a friend with this comment: "This is not to be read
— simply OWNED, and smiled at occasionally for love of the author."The inwardness of life is what matters most, for it keeps urging us to honesty of expression, picturing us with a halo of significance. I was amused over what James quoted from a friend of his. He had told James that "There is very little difference between one man and another;
but what little there is is very important."We think the most, and live
the best when we keep our objectives trotting on before us like prospects with the picture of gold in their eyes! Those things we most desire are usually the things close at hand. They are nearest to our heart where our desires seem to be given their earliest birth. Our associations with those whom we look upon as superior, and inspiring, pay their biggest dividends in terms of love.Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "A Dog's Life"

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS"DEAR MOM"

By Herb Score

Herb Score, Cleveland Indians' ace pitcher, was nearly blinded by a batted ball in May 1957. In this special Mother's Day letter, he recalls the high points of his struggle for recovery.I usually phone you, so if this letter is a surprise the only explanation is that it's long due you.
Besides, after nine months of marriage to Nancy, one of the things I've learned is that women like to be appreciated
in many ways.During those long weeks in the hospital there was time to think, and I saw a few things I didn't before. My memories went way back, and some were on the humorous side.
Remember when I was a toddler and would open the ice box when we lived on Long Island and I'd snatch out an egg because it was the nearest thing to a ball, and I'd throw it in the air and yell:
"Ball! I play ball!"And when I made an error, you'd patiently clean up the mess
on the floor, and then find a real ball for me.Never Complained
And when I was old enough to start throwing one, we settled at first for tennis balls against the side of the house. I'd do that for hour after hour, but you never complained though I cracked the mortar outside and rattled the dishes all over your shelves inside.Then the day came when you and Dad separated, and you had to support us kids, Helen and Anna Mae, and me, all by yourself. We all did what we could,
but you bore the real big load,
and as I look back now, Mom,
I still don't know how you managed.Baseball was my one big love.
I made the high school team,
and you insisted that I play in the afternoons when I should have been working. Would I be in the major leagues today if you hadn't done that?And then the steaks. All kid athletes love meat, but you heard steak was one of the best body
builders, so we had it a lot,
though probably you did without new clothes.Honesty And Respect
You gave me the middle name,
Jude, after the one who helps
those who try to do the impossible.
You should have had that name.There were other things you gave us too: teaching us to find the humor in our troubles, to be honest about our mistakes, to respect the opinions of others though we didn't agree with them.You and I have disagreed sometimes, but you always helped me to live my own life and think out my own problems. When things did seem impossible, I realized the need for God's help
and was never afraid to ask Him
for it.And most of all, I remember your prayers. Without them I shouldn't be here.A Serious Accident
First, when I was three, when a bakery truck hit me head on and nearly crushed both my legs
above the knees. I was in traction for 10 weeks, and the question was: would I ever walk again?What was worse, the doctor discovered the bones in one leg refused to pull apart, and he ordered an operation to insert a plate.I remember you kneeling by my bed the night before the operation.
The next day when they took new X-rays before taking me into surgery, they found the bones had settled back into place. No operation was necessary.Your prayers and love helped me to a complete recovery, andyour example taught me the importance of prayer.That was the first big accident,
and there were more in the years that followed: a bad case of pneumonia, a broken ankle, eight months in bed with rheumatic fever, but no after-effects. In 1953, when I was already playing in the minor leagues and going good, I fell and dislocated the collarbone in my pitching shoulder.
The first year with Cleveland a virus infection, the next year a spastic colon."With God's Help"
Remember when the front office worried about this and you told them: "He'll get over it, just as he has everything else, with God's help." You weren't the doctor but you reassured even them with your faith.You also showed me that praying when things were going well is just as vital as seeking God in a pinch. So it became natural for me to pray when I was pitching. Just quiet prayers to myself, to calm my temper and use my head. There's only one person you hurt when you get mad — yourself.When other players heard of the prayers I said while pitching, I was kidded a bit. But when I was hit in the eye with the ball and it looked like I might lose that eye, those who kidded me told me they were praying for me. The letters and telegrams that poured into the hospital piled so high they had to move me into a larger room.When I talked to you on the phone after the accident, sure enough, the first thing you said was: "Don't worry, Herb. I've just come from church. God is with you."I've lost a year in baseball.
Mom, but I've found out a lot more: how many real friends I have; the wonder of our wonderful relationship, and the ties of faith in it. Between us there has always been a sureness within.
I never tried to put it all into words before because I hadn't figured it out. So just call this a Mother's Day letter of appreciation, written like this because I want everyone to know how grateful I am to you — and to God.TUESDAY — Glenn D. Kittler

liam Larimer Mellon Jr., who, at 37, gave up a life of luxury and leisure to become a doctor and eral judge decides today whether a Virginia community should immediately integrate its public schools.Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals in Baltimore hears a plea for a stay of a school integration

order affecting northwest Virginia's Warren County High School.Sobeloff recently heard similar pleas for stay of federal integration orders from Arlington and Alexandria school officials. In those cases he said he found no reason to put off the integration deadlines.Negro pupils were then admitted to former all white schools in both of the northern Virginia communities.In the Warren County case U.S.
Dist. Judge John Paul ordered the school board to reopen its white high school at Front Royal on Wednesday and admit 22 Negroes.The Front Royal school was the first of nine Virginia schools to be shut down last fall under the

sistance laws.EXECUTORS' PUBLIC SALE

More Water In
Some PlacesBy SAM DAWSON
AP Business News AnalystNEW YORK (AP)—Even when floods are front page news a large portion of the business population — and of city fathers, too
— worries about the increasing
dearth of water supplies.Industry needs more each year.
And per capita consumption mounts faster than the growth in population. The Interior Department reports that in the last five years more than 1,000 communities have had to ration water at some time or other.The world has lots of water —
but often in the wrong places or the wrong condition for human use.Near Solution
Most is in the oceans. And schemes for conversion of salt water into fresh at reasonable cost is, in President Eisenhower's words, "on the threshold of solution."Much of the available water is carried in cloud formations. And methods of getting it to earth
where and when wanted are under constant study and trial.Lots of the nation's water is concentrated in rivers that often overflow with costly damage. Flood control programs tackle both this problem and the salvaging of the water for later beneficial use.Tackling Cost
The cost problem in turning sea water or brackish water into fresh is being tackled in a number of ways: solar distillation, evaporators that flash water into vapor
under vacuum, a freezing process,
a nuclear reactor sideline, an electrical membrane method.The cost now averages out at $1.75 per thousand gallons. Science hopes to cut this to 50 or 75 cents
within five years.Congress has appropriated 10 million dollars for five experimental plants. And various corporations here and abroad are trying out schemes of their own.NEW ITALIAN

FACING TESTROME (AP)—The Italians get a new Christian Democrat government today, but they can't be sure their worst political crisis
since the war is over until Parliament approves the Cabinet.Antonio Segni succeeded in forming a one-party minority government. President Giovanni Gronchi approved it and told the lean, white-haired Segni to come back to the Presidential Palace today and be sworn in as premier.It looked as though Segni's government would pass muster in Parliament since it has support of the Liberals and some Monarchists.Cabinet In Question
Segni needed no parliamentary vote of confidence to assume office. But late this week or early next both the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate must approve the Cabinet. Failure to get this would force him to resign.The 66-year-old leader's Cabinet is limited to Christian Democrats only. The party, although Italy's largest, is 26 votes short of the 299 necessary for a majority in the Chamber of Deputies. It falls four votes short of a Senate majority.The Liberals, a right-of-center
group with 4 seats in the Senate and 17 deputies, have agreed to back the Segni government on the first confidence votes. The new premier is expected to pick up

Bullets Knock Mules From Title Race With Stunning Upset 75-66

Gettysburg College's fast-stepping basketball team hit a new high Saturday night when it turned in a stunning upset by trouncing heavily favored Muhlenberg 75-66 at Allentown.

A fine all-around performance by the entire Bullet squad turned the trick. The triumph was the eighth in the last 10 games for Coach Bob Hulton's outfit and fourth straight to life their mark to 10-9. Last year's overall record was 9-15.

Muhlenberg, easy 81-62 winner here on December 15, had won six straight before Saturday. The defeat knocked the Mules out of the title consideration in the University Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference. Bernie Crum's Allentown clan is now 11-5.

Get Quick Lead

The only time the Mules led was at the start on Dick Sekunda's goal shortly after the opening whistle. The hustling Bullets then swept to a 10-2 lead and near the midway point of the first half were on top 27-14. Last minute goals by John Warner and Bill Hemming gave Gettysburg a 39-27 edge at half time.

Del Warfel picked up his fourth personal foul with three minutes left in the first half and was benched until midway in the second half. After three minutes he was charged with his fifth foul.

Muhlenberg peeked away at the Bullet lead early in the second half and had cut the margin to 55-51 but a jump shot by Frank Grzelecki and three-pointers by Walt McGowan made it 60-51. The Hultons began playing possession ball which resulted in many Muhlenberg fouls. The Bullets capitalized on free tosses, Walt Melnik leading the group, and piled up a 70-55 lead with but three minutes left. Many fouls were called during the remaining moments and McGowan fouled out at 1:30 left.

Grzelecki played an excellent all-around game, connecting for 21 points and gathering in 17 rebounds. Only Mel Kessler was able to solve the strong Bullet defense as he landed 28 tallies, 14 on fouls. He also snared 18 rebounds.

Gettysburg sank 24 goals in 64 shots while Muhlenberg netted 20 of 68 attempts.

At Dickinson Tuesday

Three games are on schedule for the Bullets this week. Dickinson Tuesday evening, Juniata will play here Thursday, while Lafayette will be met at Easton on Saturday.

SAYS HE'LL HIT NEW HIGH JUMP MARK AT MEET

By ED CORRIGAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas calmly predicted today he will high jump 7 feet, 1¼ inches in the National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships Saturday.

No one in history ever has propelled himself that high—indoors or outdoors.

The world outdoor record is 7-1 by the Soviet Union's Yuri (Elevator) Stepanov.

Clears 7 Feet Again

The amazing 17-year-old Boston University freshman cleared an even 7-feet for the second time in three weeks in the New York Athletic Club Games in Madison Square Garden last Saturday and just did miss at 7-1¼.

"But I think I'll do it at the AAU championships," said the 6-4½ Thomas. "I was disappointed that I didn't do it in the New York A.C. meet. I don't know what happened to me."

After clearing 7 feet (he's still the only man alive to make the height indoors) Thomas tried for 7-1¼. He missed all three tries, but barely touched the crossbar on the second effort.

Sure Of Recognition

"I feel a lot better now that I've done 7 feet twice," he observed. "I don't feel so nervous about it."

Even if he never does beat 7 feet, Thomas' mark is certain to be recognized by the AAU. When he jumped 7 feet for the first time in the Millrose meet, officials forgot to measure the cross bar as required by the rules in the confusion.

This time, a whole horde of them raced to the bar as soon as John went over. Tape measures appeared from all over. It definitely was official.

St. Louis vs. Bradley

St. Louis is at Bradley tonight in the second part of their home-and-home deal to decide the challenger to Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley Conference. St. Louis, riding a 14-game winning streak with its 16-2 record, took the first one last week but still trails Cincinnati by a game.

Kansas State can clinch at least a tie for the Big Eight title and another NCAA appearance with victories over Oklahoma tonight and over Oklahoma State Saturday afternoon.

Heavy Schedule

On Wednesday, ACC titans North Carolina and North Carolina State have a rematch. The Tar Heels—who won the first due—as the home club this time. On Saturday, Princeton plays at Dartmouth in the opener of a home-and-home set that will decide the Ivy championship. In the Skyline, front-running Utah takes to the road to try to wrap up its NCAA berth-meeting runner-up Denver Thursday and New Mexico Saturday. And on the Coast, California is on the road against Washington State Friday and Idaho Saturday trying to hold its edge over Washington in the PCC.

A heavy week it is and one that begins with a big Monday with other pairings like: Michigan State at Northwestern, Indiana at Purdue, Mississippi State at Georgia, VMI at West Virginia, Xavier (Ohio) at Western Kentucky, Southern California at Washington, Oklahoma City at Florida State and St. Bonaventure at Providence.

The Bullets meet Villanova here Wednesday in their final home meet of the season.

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — The Western Baseball League isn't dead after all. It's merely in hibernation.

Directors of the Class A league, oldest minor loop in the nation, declared a one-year moratorium at a meeting Sunday. The meeting was expected to be in the nature of a wake for the eight-team league.

Instead, President O. M. Hobbs of Pueblo said the league will suspend operations this year and prepare to take another look next year.

AUBURN AND KENTUCKY TO PLAY BIG ONE

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

What happens when college basketball's only major unbeaten team plays a road game against a school that has lost only six of 118 home games in the last 16 years?

The answer comes when Auburn, the invincible, plays Kentucky, the mighty, in the Wildcats' lair at Lexington Saturday night.

With the cooperation of much-whipped Tulane tonight, Auburn will take a 30-game unbeaten string into the showdown of might against Adolph Rupp's precision-coached gang. By way of warming up for it, Kentucky has nailed its last 23 home games dating back to a loss in the Kentucky Invitational to West Virginia Dec. 20, 1957.

Within a week, there ought to be a pretty good indication of how the ball seems to be bouncing for the two big tournaments — the NCAA and the National Invitation — next month.

Loudspeakers Blast Orders On Every Phase Of Life In Every Section Of Red China

Editor's Note — The Communist engineered changes in China are enormous, and so is the price paid in human terms. Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar, noted scholar and director of India's Institute for Population at Madras, recently returned from extensive travel behind the Bamboo Curtain. This is the first of five searching articles he has written on life in Communist China.

By Dr. Sripati Chandrasekhar Copyright, 1959 By The Associated Press I spent about six weeks in Communist China and traveled widely by plane, train, car and jeep, visiting a dozen major cities, a few villages, and four communes. I traveled as far as Harbin in old Manchuria in the north, Lanchow in the west, Shanghai in the east, and Canton and Shumchun in the south.

This huge nation has embarked upon an experiment which seeks to accomplish in one day what other nations normally take 20 years to do. This last sentence is in fact a Chinese Communist slogan: "Twenty years compressed into one day."

Same Communism? What is this communism they are after and how are they trying to achieve it? Is Chinese communism the same communism we know in the Soviet Union or is it different in any material particulars?

Even the most casual traveler in Red China cannot but be struck with five aspects of the people and their economy. These are dress, the continuous din of broadcast propaganda, the country's extraordinary cleanliness, the tremendous labor effort, and the new position of women.

All Dress Alike Take dress. Everyone, men and women of all ages, are dressed in blue trousers and buttoned-up coats with collars like the uniform of Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung. To a newcomer, men and women look almost alike for all the women have taken to shoulder-length bobs.

It was explained to me that this new haircut, replacing the traditional pigtail, saves time in washing and combing; and I must admit that this new hair style needs no attention. You run your comb through your hair and you are all set.

The second thing that no one can escape is the ubiquitous radio and the loudspeaker. This started when I boarded the train at Chumchun, the frontier station, taking me to Canton.

Even in a most backward and traditional village I saw a loudspeaker hidden in a treetop. You can escape the sun and the moon but you cannot escape the radio and the loudspeaker. And what does this radio pour out day and night? Everything that the government approves.

This is the most important medium for approved news — news of the nation's progress, industrial output, how to make a smelter, how to defeat the American "imperialists," how to be a good Communist, how to be neat, how to denounce the rightists, how to behave in a train, how to kill a rat or a sparrow, how to cook a sweet potato — and a thousand other things, interspersed with traditional Chinese opera with its deafening gongs and cymbals and martial and marching songs.

Reason Is Simple The reason behind the loudspeaker is really a simple one. In a far-flung nation of 650 million where literacy is not widespread and where, consequently, the printed word is relatively ineffective, the only way to reach the citizen is via the radio in the relay-loudspeaker which cannot be controlled and cannot even be turned off.

Next: A nation hard at work.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Government May Close Case Today

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Possibly today the government will end its case in the conspiracy trial of Rep. William J. Green and six other men.

Two FBI agents testified last Thursday about a "political contribution" allegedly made by one of the defendants to Green. They were expected to be the last witnesses called by the prosecution.

U. S. District Judge Frederick V. Pollmer recessed the trial for the usual long weekend at the conclusion of this testimony. The trial starts its sixth week today.

Green, chairman of Philadelphia's Democratic party, and the others are accused of conspiracy to cheat the government in the construction of the 33 million dollar Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna, near Scranton. Five of the defendants are contractors and helped build the depot.

PA. WORKING FOR TOURISTS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's resort industry should benefit as never before under a promotion program being considered by his administration, Gov. Lawrence said Saturday.

The governor announced in a statement he has under consideration a Travel Industry Advisory Council report whose main recommendations include:

Establishing tourist information booths on major interstate highways.

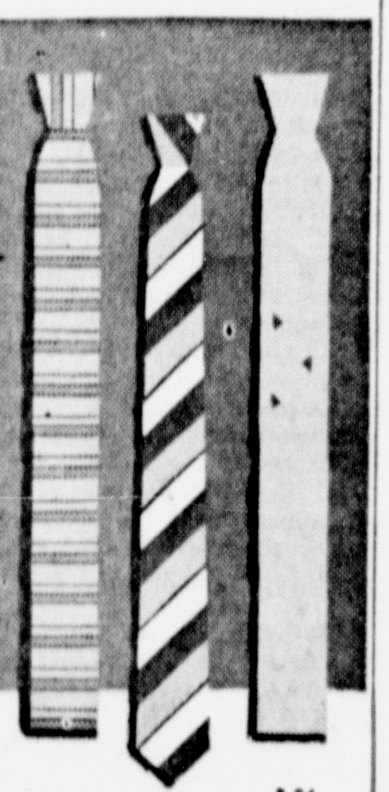

Developing a program of tourist attractions in the western Pennsylvania mountains and northern tier counties similar to those in the Poconos.

Promoting state tourism by means of a "Pennsylvania Travel Month," publishing a state magazine and a book describing the state.

Lawrence said some of the projects can be financed within the present travel budget of the department, and many can be financed by private firms in the travel field.

In addition to ship rescue readiness, the U. S. Coast Guard also operates lighthouses, buoys, loran stations and ice breakers to keep sea lanes safe for navigation.

TO COMPLETE LABOR MERGER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some 1,000 labor delegates are scheduled to meet here July 12 to complete the merger of the state CIO and AFL.

The date of the long delayed merger convention was announced over the weekend by Norman Blumberg, business manager of the Philadelphia Central Labor Union and a district vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor. Joseph A. McDonough, president of the PFL, later confirmed the date.

Blumberg said each organization will meet separately and then hold a joint session at Convention Hall.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey are the only two states which have not completed the mergers ordered in December, 1955, when the two labor organizations combined nationally.

A Pennsylvania merger convention was originally planned for last December but later was cancelled when operating details hit a snag.

There was another delay due to McDonough's recent illness.

PENTICTON, B. C. (AP)—The new Canyon Cafe here had its problems on opening day. Proprietor Al Watson was held up at gunpoint and robbed of $5.

Penn State Students In 1858 Seem "Rugged" Now

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—It would be interesting to note the reaction Pennsylvania State University students would have to orders that they provide lighting for their own rooms.

And the 15,000 students might also supply material for a clinical study if they ever were rousted out of bed for the day at about 5:30 o'clock in the morning.

Or what would be their feelings toward a directive that they spend three hours of each day at manual labor?

Brought Our Lamp

Yet, exactly 100 years ago today, 69 young men stepped off a stage coach at State College and faced those and many other regulations as members of the first class of Pennsylvania State University.

At the time, school officials pointed out, each student was required to provide an oil lamp for use in lighting his living quarters in the single campus building which then housed the entire school system—classrooms, living quarters and administrative headquarters.

The building—"Old Main"—was only partially completed when the first class arrived.

"Good, Moral Character"

Surrounding the initial structure today are dozens of large classrooms, dormitories and even an atomic reactor building.

Members of the first Penn State class had little trouble gaining admission to the school. They needed only "a good knowledge of reading, writing, geography, arithmetic and English grammar."

They were, however, required to present "satisfactory evidence of good moral character."

$100 in Fees

Each had to be at least 16 years of age, pay $100 in fees and buy their own text books.

The students were summoned to their duties and classes at 5:30 o'clock in the morning. The day's routine included hours of studies and a required three hours of manual labor.

That was exactly 100 years ago today.

Said one present day student on recalling the historic event:

"Boy, those lads sure were rugged."

PENNA. ADMEN WILL GATHER ON THURSDAY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Newspaper advertising men will open a three-day conference here Thursday sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Assn. and the Interstate Advertisers Assn.

C. Carroll Wyatt, advertising director of John Wanamaker, Philadelphia, and Edmund C. Arnold, noted authority on newspaper design and director of trade relations of Mergenthaler Linotype Co., New York, will conduct a creative copy and layout clinic.

Sees Pocket-size TV Sets In 10 Years; College Courses

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—In her forthcoming book, "A Long Way from Missouri," Mary Margaret McBride remarks on the prophetic powers of David Sarnoff, now board chairman of RCA, who 30 years ago was forecasting television much as we have it today.

Last week his son, NBC Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff, cast a prophetic look 10 years ahead to see what television will be like in 1969. He told the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce he foresaw:

The possibility of receiving most of a basic college education through accredited TV courses. (If he reads Miss McBride's book, he'll observe that his father forecast the same thing in 1929.) People will be able to carry pocket-size transistor TV sets everywhere with them. There will be live international telecasts every day. Sets will have big flat wall screens, mural size, operated at chairside. Et cetera.

Picture Clouded

As an old crystal ball gazer myself, I adore prophecy and am inclined to believe every word of it. Consulting my personal crystal after Sarnoff consulted his, I was somewhat shaken to find his prophecy true. But mine was clouded by one Pete Ibbetson, successful business man, computer, devoted husband and parent.

There, in 1969, Pete was flying home from the office on the 5:48 helicopter. Nobody on his helio was reading those old-fashioned newspapers. Everyone had his own pocket transistor TV set. Many were watching the early evening news report, though a few tired business men were tuned to the 97th rerun of "I Love Lucy." After landing at his local heliport Pete returned to a home quite different from that he had visualized for his wife, Grace, and himself away back in 1959.

Troubles In Future

"Grace," he used to say in 1959. "I love the kids, but sometimes I look forward to the day when they're in college and we're by ourselves. Then I'll have time to read some of the books I wanted to. I'll have time to..."

When he entered his house, Pete was greeted by a cacophony of sounds. Grace was staring at the 18-foot wall mural screen where NBC was presenting, live, from Central Africa, the coronation of King Zuzumu-Burumu of Uranda-Urundi. In the den Pete Jr. was tuned to his psychology TV college course. In the dining room Sue was cutting the class and had her transistor set tuned very loud to a popular singer.

There was nothing to do but turn on his transistor set. For a while, as he chewed his pills, he watched the CBS coverage of the Tibetan lama ceremony. Then he began switching from channel to channel looking for an old western.

PA. PLANNING COUNCIL GETS D. L. BACKING

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's economic development planning should be put in the hands of a special council, Gov. Lawrence said in a weekend statement.

Lawrence said he would seek legislative approval of a council to "create conditions of growth, stability and well-being necessary for the development of the economic welfare of Pennsylvania."

He said it would be known as the Governor's Council for Economic Development and the group would:

- Make recommendations on expansion of existing industries and attract new industry.
- Determine the causes of unemployment and the means for overcoming it.
- Other Tasks

Study fiscal policies and programs. Recommend means of gearing state agency programs to creation of economic stability and growth. Stimulate programs for greater use of the state's labor force.

At the same time Lawrence said he would propose that the Legislature adopt a law allowing children 15 years old and older to leave public schools to attend private or public business or trade schools when it is shown they cannot profit from regular school courses.

Kings College Wins Debating Tourney

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Kings College won highest honors in the ninth annual Garvey Memorial Invitational debating tourney Saturday.

The first place trophy, however went to St. John's of Hillcrest, N. Y., because the host college is not eligible for trophies.

St. John's of Brooklyn and Penn State finished second and third, respectively. The competition drew entries from 26 eastern colleges and universities.

INDEPENDENCE OF CYPRUS IS PARLEY AIM

LONDON (AP)—The heads of the Greek and Turkish communities on Cyprus arrived in London Sunday for the formal talks to arrange independence for Britain's east Mediterranean colony.

About 4,000 Greek Cypriots gave Archbishop Makarios a resounding welcome as the bearded leader arrived at London Airport from Athens.

About 200 flag-waving Turkish Cypriots were on hand when Dr. Fazil Kutuchik flew in from Nicosia and Ankara.

To Set Terms

Makarios and Kutuchik will sit down Tuesday with the foreign ministers of Britain, Greece and Turkey in a parley to draw the final terms for the conversion of Cyprus into a republic.

Makarios was exiled by the British from Cyprus in 1956 because he refused to disavow the terror campaign of the EOKA underground. If agreement on the island's future is reached at the conference, he presumably will be allowed to return to his homeland at once so he can sell the agreement to the Greek Cypriots. The island's Greek majority is expected to choose him as the first president of Cyprus.

PUSH TO BREAK DU PONT GM TIE

CHICAGO (AP)—The government today begins another chapter of its 10-year legal battle to divest E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. of its vast holdings in General Motors Corp.

The current phase of the anti-trust action is to decide the disposition of 63 million shares of GM stock held by Du Pont and two holding companies. The hearings before U.S. Dist. Judge Walter J. Labuy are expected to continue at least five weeks.

Government attorneys have asked Judge Labuy to order the stock sold on the open market or distributed to individual Du Pont shareholders.

Counsel for Du Pont and GM are seeking a ruling that would permit the big chemical firm to keep its GM stock but pass voting rights to individual Du Pont shareholders.

Endorse Sen. Barr For DL's Old Job

PITTSBURGH (AP)—State Sen. Joseph M. Barr will seek the Democratic nomination for mayor of Pittsburgh at the May primary election with the blessing of the Allegheny County Democratic organization.

Barr was endorsed Saturday along with Coroner William D. McClelland for a county commissioner post. Barr also is the state party chairman.

All other incumbents were endorsed by the party leaders for reelection. But a fight appears in the making for the district attorney nomination.

Sheriff William H. Davis left the slate making session an hour early and indicated to newsmen he strongly opposed the endorsement of Dist. Atty. Edward C. Boyle. The two formerly were close friends but now apparently are far apart. Davis said he expected to name a candidate to oppose Boyle within a few days.

Afghanistan is bordered by USSR, Iran and Pakistan.
